The relief seek from defendants is in respect to conditions of plaintiffs' confinement within the Delaware Department of Correction, which constitute cruel and unusual punishment under the Eighth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

3. Plaintiffs allege that the "Old-side" system has not work since 1997. They allege that there is inadequate ventilation and air flow which results in excessive heat and extreme humidity in the summer months and extreme cold during the winter months at the work place. Plaintiffs allege that the condition is compounded by the use of floor fans which cause dust and lint to be blown over the food preparation and dishwashing areas. 4. Plaintiffs ask that an independent expert with special skill or experience in local exhaust ventilation system to inspect the SCI main kitchen as to the construction, installation, or the condition or state of repair of the "old-side" exhaust ventilation system to ensure the required protection by maintaining a volume and velocity of exhaust air and air flow sufficient to gather dust, fumes, vapors, or gases from commercial cooking equipment, and to convey to suitable points of safe disposal, thereby preventing their dispersion in harmful quantities into the atmosphere where inmates work.
